Town of Midland to launch Cloudpermit system

November 22, 2021 – The Town of Midland continues to modernize our services and offer more convenient ways to support our residents and businesses safely and efficiently.

The Town's Building Department is excited to announce the soft launch of e-permitting software on November 30, 2021, with full launch on January 1, 2022. The new Cloudpermit system will allow homeowners and industry professionals the ability to submit building permit applications online at Midland.ca/Building.

The switch to a digital permitting system is very exciting for both staff and the community. It provides a more efficient and sustainable approach to our operations, bringing valuable new tools to our community. In March of 2021 the Town of Penetanguishene launched Cloudpermit and the Township of Tiny is also implementing Cloudpermit in 2022.

As of January 1, all applicants are encouraged to use the new e-permitting system online. If residents have a paper-based application, they can still come to the Municipal Office for assistance with the online application.

"The cloud-based permit software is a one-stop shop for professionals or homeowners looking to build in Midland," said Terry Paquette, Chief Building Officer for the Town of Midland. "It provides each user their own portal for application submissions, inspections, and approvals, as well as integration with Building Department staff, scheduling, and online billing."

For staff, the ability to use the mobile tool to conduct site inspections, upload images and reviews to the project remotely, further provides efficiencies within the entire application process.

Building Department staff are excited to conduct community training sessions in the new year. Interested individuals are encouraged to follow the Town of Midland on social media (@TownofMidland on Facebook, @MidlandON on Twitter) for future announcements of specific training dates, or connect with building@midland.ca to be added to an email list.
